

Rooted Cosmopolitanism

Canada and the World

EDITED BY WILL KYMLICKA AND KATHRYN WALKER

Canadians take pride in being good citizens of the world. Yet Canada's failure to meet global commitments raises questions. Do Canadians need to transcend national loyalties to become full global citizens? Is the idea of rooted cosmopolitanism simply a myth that encourages complacency about Canada's place in the world? This volume assesses rooted cosmopolitanism in both theory and practice. By exploring how Canadians are accommodating "the world" in areas such as multiculturalism, climate change, and humanitarian intervention, the contributors test the possibility of reconciling national allegiances with commitments to human rights, global justice, and international law.

WILL KYMLICKA is the Canada Research Chair in Political Philosophy at Queen's University. KATHRYN WALKER is a post-doctoral fellow at l'Université de Montréal.
